GROWTH PLAY: THE QUANTITATIVE GROWTH ENGINE

Prysmian is not merely a cable manufacturer; it is the critical infrastructure backbone of the global energy transition and grid electrification. With consistent structural tailwinds driving demand for high-voltage and submarine systems, Prysmian represents a top-tier industrial growth compounder. Our models flag this as a high-conviction Growth play, despite current valuation premiums.

Value Score	Growth Score	LTM ROE	LTM P/BV

Priced for perfection	TOP GROWTH	Exceptional quality	Asset premium

1 · Structural Growth & Profitability

Prysmian demonstrates an exceptional ability to capture the secular electrification trend, driving aggressive bottom-line expansion.

- Top-Line Momentum: Revenue continues its steady climb, with projections indicating a +10.2% YoY growth rate for the 2026 fiscal year.
- Earnings Inflection: The true standout is profitability scaling. Forward EPS growth sits at a massive 38.8% (2-year CAGR), with 2026E Normalised EPS estimated to surge +59.2% YoY — positioning Prysmian as a superior growth vehicle.
- Price Momentum: The market has aggressively rewarded this execution, driving a blistering +157.7% price return over the trailing 12-month period.

2 · Best-in-Class Capital Efficiency

Prysmian's ability to generate returns on capital is exceptional, screening out almost all peers in the heavy-capex industrial space.

- Quality Metrics: Stellar LTM Return on Invested Capital (ROIC) of 15.4% and LTM Return on Equity (ROE) of 22.7% — proving capacity to deploy capital efficiently at scale.
- Deleveraging Profile: Despite its aggressive growth trajectory, the balance sheet is rapidly de-risking. Net Debt/EBITDA projected to compress from an LTM level of 1.43x down to a highly sustainable 0.91x by 2026E.

3 · Valuation & Market Context

The low Value Score (17/100) confirms that Prysmian is heavily priced for perfection. However, for growth-oriented mandates, this valuation reflects its market leadership in the electrification supercycle.

■ Premium Multiples: Trading at 29.77x NTM P/E and 32.32x LTM P/E — the market is pricing in flawless execution of the grid modernisation supercycle.

■ Investment Case: While traditional “value” investors may balk at the 6.15x LTM P/BV, our quantitative scoring highlights Prysmian as a fundamental powerhouse for high-conviction growth portfolios seeking exposure to the energy transition backbone.

The Bottom Line

Prysmian is a quintessential momentum-fuelled compounder. In an era where upgrading the global power grid is a non-negotiable priority, Prysmian's dominance provides a structural floor to its premium valuation. The entry point requires absorbing high multiples, but the sheer velocity of its earnings trajectory (Growth Score 85/100) and its elite operational efficiency make it a core anchor for long-term industrial allocations.
